Very aptly Nelson Mandela pointed out that, "Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world". What if the weapon has become blunt over the years and needs sharpening? Lack of employability in many developing countries calls for sharpening of education as a whole. The question that arises is how to increase the employability in the given paradigm shift. In this context the webinar will help to raise the curtains on various aspects of the issue. The eminent experts of the webinar from national as well as international arena will present their valuable opinions. The participants will get the opportunity to grab the knowledge for further promotion of interdisciplinary research that critically examines human, cultural, value based and contemporary sides of education and employability.
